

Emerging Anime Content Creator Releases Private Selection of Short Stories Limited Release Now Available for Review

BURBANK, CA (July 15, 2023) – Emerging author Lordan Brichetto announces the limited release of a collection of previously unpublished short stories. Angels and Sinners will be released on July 23, 2023, through Draft2Digital.com.

These stories give readers the opportunity to experience Brichetto's early work. This collection of short stories reflects the same tension and conflict between love, loss, and heroism that mark her recent literary projects that immerse readers in a world of ancient and mystical fantasy.

Within the pages of this collection, the reader will find a selection of 3 short fiction stories that promise to evoke a powerful emotional response. These are joined by a special release of a poetic rendition of "The Raven" by Edgar Allan Poe. Brichetto's free-flowing prose, "Baxter Raven Crow", reflects the author's personal struggle with isolation, mental anguish, and the consequences of personal choices.

"Kaz" – A supernatural story of grief and loss unfold, but nothing is as seems. A haunting event forever changes Kaz's perception of reality. One innocent moment in time took his sister Keira from him, but she still lives, in the ether that bridges the living to the dead.

"The Man Hunter" – The Cerberus Project unveils a secret society of deadly special forces and assassins that are available for hire by governments and criminal organizations alike. Moral and legal considerations don't matter.

"TISAL" - Tactical Intelligence and Surveillance Analysis Laboratory is an evil social experiment that hides the identity and existence of Kaitlyn Marie, known only by her given name but still, she searches for her identity and heritage. Her past is a memory of nothingness, yet Kaitlyn must discover the origin of her bloodline before all is lost forever.

"Two's Company, Three's a Crowd" - A wicked little story of Sarah's revenge. A tale of betrayal and lies that are personified by the saying, "Hell has no fury like a woman scorned". A deliciously satisfying story of pent-up rejection that drives a woman to regain control of her life as secrets reveal the dirty side of infidelity.

About the Author: Lordan Brichetto creates multimedia content in the realms of ancient and contemporary fantasy. Mythical heroes and dark entities come alive with her words, artwork, and music. Lordan views her Autism as a special gift that enables her to transverse the complexity of creating new worlds in a mystical multiverse. Lordan's journey began in early childhood. Despite lacking formal training, Lordan plays by ear, composes and produces her projects. Her vocal and instrumental repertoire spans diverse genres from classical, soul, rap, alternative rock, and heavy metal.

About Draft2Digital: Draft2Digital is an aggregator, handling distribution services for authors whose books aren't exclusive to Amazon. Instead of uploading your "wide" eBook's repeatedly to sellers like Apple, Barnes & Noble, and Kobo, you only must upload them once, and Draft2Digital takes care of the rest. While this is their main function, they also offer other tools and services to authors. And by absorbing Smashwords into the fold, D2D will be offering even more to authors as the merger comes to fruition.
